

Relationship with regional NGOs and Government Bodies

Many businesses nowadays as part of their “Corporate Social Responsibility” work together with Non-Governmental Organizations towards achieving sustainable environment. Government laws are also being reformed to make them SDGs inclusive. In this regards the academia is even more actively participating and help the government various organizations and NGOs to achieve their community wellbeing and sustainability goals.

Objectives

1. Compliance with relevant government regulatory bodies
2. Collaborate with NGOs towards achieving sustainable development goals
3. Bridging the gaps among student/faculty and community around by engaging them in common platforms

UCP focuses on

1. University must comply with relevant applicable laws and acts set by regulatory bodies of federal and provincial government
2. Collaborate with regional, national and global NGOs and work with them on several initiatives at university or departmental levels.
3. Engage faculty and students in volunteer services and community welfare projects
4. Adhering to any new law or act passed by government both at federal and provincial level.
5. Faculty and student workshops must be arranged at continuous intervals over understanding the regulatory framework, working of government bodies and issues pertaining to society well being.